

In the garden of your joy, a deep pain grows
I confess my part, swayed by a sudden turbulent blow

I feel your despair, despite being countries away
Adapting myself for good, to brighten the future's way

In anguish it burns, forgive my regretful heart
Situation is testing us, let's win with a fresh restart

Promising my efforts, I need a smile on your part
I'm an ordinary rock unearthed, shaping out the diamond apart

Let's paint the sky, with hues of joy and care
Each moment beautiful, with laughter we share

Together we rise, guided by divine light
Enjoying the wonderful days, supporting in gloomy nights

- KK

